TOP TIPS

Popping the question? Or think your other half might be considering it?

Bec Astley Clarke shares her gems of ring wisdom

1. Engagement rings should be what you want them to be – price is irrelevant if you both love the ring.

2. Be adventurous choosing gemstones and design.

Traditional diamond engagement rings are not the only route – sometimes it can be more special to do something completely different.

3. Fall in love with rose gold, the coppery hue is flattering against all skin tones and looks simply exquisite paired with morganite or rose de France.

4. Go bespoke.

Design your own ring to create a piece that is truly personal to the both of you. The experience is unlike anything else and one you will always remember – we even provide the sketches of your ring as a keepsake.

5. It's common knowledge, but when choosing diamonds remember the 4 Cs – carat, clarity, colour and cut.

WE LOVE

The Infidels, Agonist

Not just any fragrance, this is the ultimate expression of love, and it's very much top of our wish list this Valentine's Day. Described as a deep perfume, inspired by the exact moment when a rose bud is about to burst, the scent is encased in a traditionally handcrafted flacon by Swedish glasswork artist Kosta Boda.

Psst...

Fashion Week is here again, and with it the need to look one's best. Combining two of our favourite things – breakfast and blow-dries – Sketch are offering the ultimate treat for FROW-worthy fashionistas fuelling up for a day at the shows. Having teamed up with hairdresser Josh Wood, they're offering a dry-style blow dry with Chanel file and polish, plus breakfast in the Glade for just £30. 9 Conduit Street, W1S (020 7659 4500; www.sketch.uk.com)
